

WWW.DARIUSMYERS.COM

For Immediate Release

Contact: Darius Myers @ 646-704-2196
Darius@feroscitus.com

Black Camelot's Days of War
Release Date, July 2, 2021

Fero Scitus Book Publishing, now Darius Myers Books, is excited to announce Black Camelot's Days of War, the third book in the Black Camelot series. The on-sale date will be July 2, 2021.

Black Camelot's Days of War, as The Publisher's Dilemma and Black Camelot's Dawn will be available to retailers and independent bookstores that buy through the Ingram Wholesale network. Readers can buy directly through their local bookstore, via bookshop.org or through amazon.com and Barnes&Nobles.com

Black Camelot's Days of War finds a city in pain. The bad guys, forces from white supremacist group, Before Emancipation have finally scored some significant deaths. They have vowed to end Black Camelot and can now count important people to the city, the Black Camelot universe and Chief Teddy Walker's force amongst their casualties. The consequences and repercussions to these attacks are swift as a chase ensues to capture the bad guys and end the violence.

Meanwhile, Dawn Davis Stuart's nemesis, the dreaded, narcissistic real estate baron, Bronson Pagent orders a murder for hire, against the strong advice and physical rebuke of his powerful attorney.

All the bad guys, the attackers of the Black Camelot's and Dawn Davis Stuart don't realize that they've attacked the wrong people. But the war is intense, as there are professional assassins in the fight now. These new foes are way more sophisticated and talented than the low-skilled white supremacists fighters that are members of Before Emancipation.

The professional attacks up the ante in the war and merit a response from the Society of Protectors, a private army with a charge to protect only a small group of people—the Black Camelots', members of the secret society named the Guiding Force, and Dawn Davis Stuart's family. The Society of Protectors is an Army, that never loses—and has vowed to never let harm come to the Black Camelots'.

Book four, Black Camelot's Dazed by Death, will be available January, 2022

For live interview availability contact Darius Myers at darius@feroscitus.com

#####